

I am an XM subscriber....and I feel it is my right to have news, weather and sports available from XM radio.

We drive a lot between Florida and Ohio, and there are many areas you cannot get any signal of a local channel without a lot of static can barely hear or understand from our standard am/fm car radio. Now with XM satellite, we can get talk shows, news, up-to the minute information, so if we are on a trip and no am/fm radio is available, and there is a storm coming our direction or a tornado or hurricane, we would be able to fine out with XM radio...

Everyone has a CHOICE!!!!!! That is what this country is supposed to be about.....NOT RAMMING it down someone's throat just because they are losing listeners. There are also others, that won't like XM radio or so I have heard, due to it cutting out sometimes when you go very close to a mountain or bridge and your signal cuts out....but that creates opportunity for CHOICE.....there is more than one Radio station....there is more than one TV station. I am sure that the horse breeders and tack makers and buggy whip companies got made at Ford for inventing the car and probably tried to ban the car too
